Dear Friends!!!

In relation to the tragic effects of Friday earthquake in Japan, I am folding my letter up full of condolences and solidarity with the Japanese nation. I am uniting with you in suffering; I am offering the special condolences for families of victims of the cataclysm.

I learnt about this tragic event from television on the same day. It stunned my entire nation and me. I am plunging into your suffering and sadness. I am convinced about the fact that the Japanese nation will arise from the effects of those ghastly events.

With condolences:

D. I.

Hello!

L

I am Matthew. I'm 19 years old and I write this letter to you from the North of Poland.

E

On 11th March I watched on TV that your country suffered from a terrible earthquake and tsunami. Then I was together with my friends. We all were very shocked by this tragedy. That day my parents and I sent a text message to help Japan.

Hello,

C

My name is Natalia. I'm 18 and I'm from Poland.

L

I heard about tsunami, it is a disaster! I saw that tragedy on TV and I'm really sad about it. I heard that many people died there. I was shocked! Every time when I see that large waves falling on the buildings and the people, I almost cry.
